Elsevier 360 for Nursing

Murray State University | April 27, 2022

With our latest program solution, Elsevier 360 for Nursing, educators have access to resources, tools and services to offer a proven, cohesive nursing program. By adding Elsevier 360 in addition to other digital tools, faculty from Murray State University like Tonia Mailow could easily recognize how incorporating new resources into their program can support student outcomes and add value to changes coming in nursing education. Having a single solution provider not only makes onboarding and customer service easier but also meets all their program needs.

New & Noteworthy

Last month, Elsevier, in partnership with the NLN, hosted a panel discussion, "Why Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion is Essential for Nursing Education". Kevonne Holloway, Managing Director, Global Content Partners, facilitated questions to an esteemed panel of educators and students. This webinar was part of the NLN's Taking Aim Initiative to tackle racial bias in nursing education.
